ALABAMA REPORTER,
THURSDAY MORNING Jan. 14.

MR. THOS. S. SMITH of Sylacauga, is my authorized agent during my absence from the county.
Feb. 18th, 1862. L. S. WHITE

We have made out a new subscription book, and in transcribing may have omitted names. If any of our subscribers fail to get their paper, we will please inform us of the fact immediately.

Hon. J. L. M. Curry, will, please accept no thanks for public documents.

We had the coldest weather and the most of it; the hardest freezing and the steepest thawing, the most hard and the muddiest mud within the memory of that venerable individual the oldest inhabitant.

We observe that Senator Phelan of Mississippi has moved the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus under the late act of Congress placing men who have substitutes in the army again in the service. If Congress had the Constitutional right to pass the act there could certainly be no necessity for suspending the writ of habeas corpus, as a means of securing its enforcement. If the act is unconstitutional those who are specially bound to support the constitution ought not to desire a resort to extraordinary means to enforce a law which might be declared a violation of it. Let right not prevail.

On Thursday the 11th inst., I will bring out forty negroes at public outcry at the Court House in Talladega, consisting of men, women and children.

A. LAWSON.

MAIL TO THE CHIEF. —A number of letters to forming a committee for Col. T. H. Morgan are now daily received to meet in Talladega, on Monday the 25th inst.

Persons not liable to the service are invited to attend.

Many young men who are not able to equip themselves have expressed a desire to serve the country in the military man of the organization to whom they belong.

In the beginning of the war, the money was distributed liberally of their means. Who will not be willing to contribute to the fund to bind their cause towards equipping men who desire to go into this branch of service.

Respectfully,

MICAH TAUL.

We have seen a copy of the Louisville Journal of the 3d January, which reported that the rebels had captured 1,000 rebels, with fifty published to be captured, entered Glasgow on the 29th ult., and captured a large quantity of stores, etc., all of which was destroyed. "The guerrillas," says the Journal, "succeeded in making their escape."

The leading men of Confederate prisoners who have been in Louisville during the year 1861, reads as follows—deaths 763; executions 11; personal collisions with loss of life, 3; two thirds of these, says the Journal, "were Kentuckians."

No news from Dalton, Georgia—Long's command—[Atlanta Confederacy].

APPOINTMENT OF ATTORNEY GENERAL. In executive session, on the 3d inst., the Senate confirmed the President's nomination of Hon. George Davis, of North Carolina, as Attorney General of the Confederate States, vice Hon. Thomas J. Jordan, the late incumbent of the office, elected Governor of Alabama. The new Attorney General was succeeded as Senator by the Legislature of his State at its last session—(Mississippi).

THE DUTY OF THOSE AT HOME. The army must be fed. The families of our soldiers must be provided for. It does not require a philosopher to determine the duty of those of our people who are at home and in wealth, or even in easy circumstances. Producers should exert themselves to the utmost to raise those who are necessary to sustain life. Those who are fit should give liberality of their means to those who are not.

The poor of the country have got to take care of some way, and the wealth of the country has got to do it. The only question is, simply, what is the best plan to adopt, to accomplish the desired object.

—Mississippi.

A new army post office, officially designated Army of Tennessee, has been organized by the Department. All letters etc., intended for soldiers of the army above us, may be so addressed.

The State authorities of Georgia are now re-organizing the militia of that State under the recent act of the Legislature, which proposes, by a new military system, to have Georgia thoroughly prepared to repel any attacks of the enemy during the coming spring. The law calls into service all white male residents who are of the age of sixteen years and not over sixty years of age.

TALLADEGA, ALA., THURSDAY, JANUARY 14, 1862.

NO. 2.

The Kentucky Partisan.

Hath the wily Swamp Fox come again to earth?
Hath the soul of Sumter overalls second birth?
Are the Rebels hill-slopes' slaves a later form,
Statues like the oak tree, tameless like the storm?
Is the lightning—a hand of steel,
Flashing deadly vengeance, thrilled with fear,
To the jaws, ye minnows—seize him, if you can,
But, no brother the hirsling knows, who meets him man to man?

Well done, gallant Morgan! Strike with might
Till the fair fields redder, with a gory rain,
Smite them by the roadside, smite them with a bay.

By the lonely valley, and the purpling flood,
Neath the mighty starlight, beneath the glare of day,
Harken, straighten, patter them and stay,
Board who durst, our Christian—blind him if you can,
But, no march the Hessian Chieft, who meets him man to man?

There is a determined purpose brooding in his breast,
Horn of solemn promises, and a deep earnest.
For our women extorted, but our own avenged,
For our brightest harvest, for our town's shame,
Hath he sworn—he rocks not who may trust him,

That while still and spirit hold one spark of life,
He'll strain his broad sword, blue shall wet his knife;

Ye Hessian horsemen crush him, if you can,
But, no brother the stanchion slave, who meets him man to man?

It is time for pleasure—dost the alien wait,
Up, my men, and follow Marion of the West,
Strike him for freedom, strike with main force,
Smite him with a gory rain, smite him with a bay.

Neath the noonday's sun, 'neath the glow of night,
Strikes the bold, and resolute, strike by bold and weak,

From the shadowy valley, by the purpling flood,
Smite them by the roadside, smite them with a bay.

I who would not gladly die beside that glorious man

Hood's Morgan's "AVAIL."

Decatur, Jan. 1. '62.

SOLDIERS. I am one, and among you another to a long and painful imprisonment.

I am anxious to be again in the field—I therefore call on all the soldiers of my command to assemble at once at the rendezvous which has been established at this place.

Your country needs your services, the field of operations is wide, and the future glorious it woefully deserve it.

Remember how many of your brave comrades are still pining in a felon's cell, They call loudly on you for help. They expect it of you. Will you disappoint them?

Come at once, and come heroically, for I want no man in my command who will be sent to his duty by a proscript marshal.

The work before us will be arduous, and will require brave hearts and willing hands. Let no man falter or delay, for time is to be lost.

Every one must bring his horse and gun who can. Those who cannot, will have them furnished.

JON H. MORGAN,
Brig. General, P. A. C. S.

Financial Scheme in Congress.

The Richmond Examiner learns that the Committee of the House of Representatives has matured and prepared for report to the House a scheme of financial relief, which rejects what is known as the "Bank Convention" scheme, and proposes a certain plan of general ad valorem taxation.

In this scheme the idea of funding is not entirely discarded, but is proposed as a certain auxiliary, to the contemplated impressment of the finances by heavy taxation. It is generally estimated that the tax bill proposed by the committee will yield six hundred millions of revenue; some other estimates may say even hundred and fifty millions.—Montgomery Ad.
